Ground Rules for small groups

	What are the ground rules for being in a small group? Each time your small group meets, you should go over the following ground rules for your life together:
priority	While you're a member of a small group, you give group meetings priority.
participation	Everyone participates in the small groups, but no one dominates.
respect	Everyone is given the right to their own opinion, and "dumb questions" are encouraged and respected. Everyone treats others as lovable, valuable and capable children of God.
new people	The group stays open to new people at every meeting, as long as they know and understand the ground rules.
confidentiality	Anything that is said in the meeting is never repeated outside the meeting.
support	Permission is given to call upon each other (especially your Guide) in time of need – even in the middle of the night.
